Education Program

The screenshot shows the Wikipedia Training page for students. The page title is "Wikipedia:Training/For students". Below the title, it says "From Wikipedia, the free encyclopedia" and "< Wikipedia:Training". The page has a navigation bar with "Project page" and "Talk" tabs, and buttons for "Read", "Edit", and "View history". The main content area has a header with "Wikipedia Training", "For students", "Menu", and "Resources". A "Shortcut: WP-STUDENT" button is also present. The text states: "This orientation for students editing Wikipedia as a class assignment consists of four main modules:" followed by a bulleted list: "• Welcome, a short introduction;", "• The Core, an overview of Wikipedia's core principles;", "• Editing, a tutorial on the basic mechanics of editing pages and communicating with others; and", "• Advanced, some selected advanced topics to help you get off to a good start with your first article." Below this, it says "In total, the four modules should take about one hour to complete." A "Start the training" button is visible. The page also has a "Welcome" section with a list of four items: "1: Welcome to Wikipedia", "2: About this orientation...", "3: Navigating this orientation", and "4: Let's begin...". At the bottom, there is a "The Core" section with a list of ten items: "1: Introduction to Wikipedia's Core Policies and Guidelines", "3: Wikipedia's Five Pillars", "9: Verifiability", and "10: Notability". The left sidebar contains various navigation links such as "Main page", "Contents", "Featured content", "Current events", "Random article", "Donate to Wikipedia", "Wikimedia Shop", "Interaction", "Help", "About Wikipedia", "Community portal", "Recent changes", "Contact Wikipedia", "Toolbox", "What links here", "Related changes", "Upload file", "Special pages", "Permanent link", "Page information", "Print/export", "Languages", and "Add links".
